

The American College of
Obstetricians and Gynecologists
WOMEN'S HEALTH CARE PHYSICIANS

December, 2017

Dear Medical Provider:

The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists invites you to attend the 2018 Annual Clinical and Scientific Meeting held April 27-30, 2018, in Austin, TX, at the Austin Convention Center.

This meeting is an important scientific gathering of obstetricians, gynecologists, and other health care professionals representing many countries throughout the world. Up-to-date information applicable to women's health care will be provided to all in attendance. We hope you will be able to participate in this exciting opportunity.

Our preliminary program is available online at annualmeeting.acog.org. Please review it to determine your travel plans well in advance and seek permission if necessary. It should be understood that this invitation is not a commitment on the part of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists to provide any financial support.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Francine Woodward-Travis directly at (800) 673-8444 x2541 or by email at: fwoodward@acog.org.

Sincerely,

Sandra A. Carson, MD
Vice President, Education
The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists