Medical and Surgical Innovations in Health Care is the theme for ACOG’s Annual Clinical and Scientific Meeting April 27-30, 2018 in Austin, Texas. An exciting program has been designed this year in a new city that will engage learners, demonstrate cutting edge research, and feature innovations in our specialty.

The President’s Program will begin Friday morning at 8:00 AM in the Austin Convention Center and will feature a Women’s Health Roundtable panel on women’s health issues pertinent to the current and future challenges in our field.

Special events this year include the Welcome Reception on Friday evening from 6:00 PM – 7:30 PM, the Medical Student, JFCAC, and Young Physician Reception and the Mix and Mingle Alumni Reception on Saturday evening, at the Fairmont Hotel. The OB-GYNPAC Party will also be Saturday night at Trinity Hall from 8:00 PM – 11:00 PM.

Advocacy is an important part of our specialty so plan to participate in the Texas Women’s Healthcare Coalition 5K Fun Walk/Run for Women’s Health on Saturday morning at 6:00 AM. Cecile Richards, President of Planned Parenthood, will also host a colloquia address on Sunday afternoon just before the popular Gerald and Barbara Holzman Stump the Professors Session, which will have a new twist and feature a panel of ACOG Past Presidents as the ‘Professors.’

Come to Texas for a great meeting in a vibrant city, with your colleagues and peers, and to learn about current and future medical and surgical innovations in health care. I’ll see you in Austin.

Inner Space Cavern Tour

Sunday, April 29th  9:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Inner Space cavern was discovered by a Texas Highway Department core drilling team in the Spring of 1963. Six inch core samples were taken to determine if the ground was stable enough to support a large highway overpass. As they were drilling one of the test holes, the bit suddenly dropped 26ft. and the highway crew knew there was something down there besides rock.

News of this fantastic discovery spread fast and within the next few months, the Texas Speleological Society had secured permission to enter and explore the dark reaches of the newly discovered cave. The first group of spelunkers entered the cave on a cool November morning in 1963. A wooden tripod was erected over the core hole, and each person was lowered down the narrow shaft on a rope tied to an automobile.

Within the next several days, over 7,000 feet of cave had been surveyed. The passages varied from very tight crawls to large cathedral-type rooms and halls. For the most part the cave was easy going except for a few tight tunnels and the sticky mud that exists in all parts of the cave.

Inner Space was opened to the public in the summer of 1966, and since that time hundreds of thousands of visitors have seen this beautiful cave. Now it’s your turn to take an adventure on this cave tour through Inner Space. On this tour, a guide will accompany you through the living cavern along a well-lit pathway, giving you a first hand look at this amazing natural cave formation.

Lyndon B. Johnson Library Tour

Friday, April 27  1:00 PM – 5:00 PM

“It is all here: the story of our time with the bark off...This library will show the facts, not just the joy and triumphs, but the sorrow and failures, too.” – from the words of Lyndon Baines Johnson at the dedication of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library and Museum, May 22, 1971

Spoken by Lyndon Johnson at the dedication of the LBJ Presidential Library in May 1971, these words capture the 36th President’s intent to make all the records of his administration available to all Americans—and to let them render their own verdict as to his place in history.

In that spirit, and in the hope that the institution would also serve as a “springboard to the future,” the mission of the LBJ Presidential Library is “to preserve and protect the historical materials in the collections of the library and make them readily accessible; to increase public awareness of the American experience through relevant exhibitions and educational programs; to advance the LBJ Library’s standing as a center for intellectual activity and community leadership while meeting the challenges of a changing world.”

Situated on a 30-acre site on The University of Texas campus in Austin, Texas, the Library houses 45 million pages of historical documents, 650,000 photos and 5,000 hours of recordings from President Johnson’s political career, including about 643 hours of his recorded telephone conversations. The iconic ten-story building was designed by award-winning architect Gordon Bunshaft and features a Great Hall with a stunning four-story, glass-encased view of the archives collection. Approximately 100,000 visitors from around the world visit the LBJ Library exhibits each year.

What is the Virtual Meeting?

The Virtual Meeting provides attendees with “open access” to most meeting materials after the Annual Meeting. It includes postgraduate courses, clinical seminars, surgical tutorials, subspecialty collaborative sessions, flipped classroom and colloquia lectures. Presentations can be downloaded and will be synced to the audio from the meeting sessions. * This is a great way to capture all of the information from the meeting even if you were unable to attend some of the lectures. Take advantage of this special option today. The Virtual Meeting can be purchased for $199 in addition to your registration. The option will also be available onsite but at double the cost.
